Judge, given this morning in the case of Butcher v. Devins, will surprise our readers probably more than it has done ourselves. Judges, like many other oracles "whose right there are few to dispute" often "move in a mysterious way," and it may possibly be presumptuous

Some judges, with a wise discretion, deepen the mystery under which they move by refraining from giving the slightest reason for the course they take so that no ray whatever may fall upon the minds of those outside the mystery.

so that no ray whatever may fall upon the minds of those outside the mysterious groove. It is not for us to say that the defendant in the above case brought the horse in question "to earth" by any "negligence," by any direct act or by any chain of direct and indirect causes. It is the Under Sheriff's duty to keep the peace, and to

On Sunday evening last a most daring robbery took place in the Bonham-road, near the person of an English gentleman. It appears from what we hear that Mr Cuthbertson, an engineer, and one of the passengers on board the late steamer Beatrice, was proceeding along the Bonham-road, when he received a violent blow from behind from some person unknown. He immediately fell senseless, and while in that state was robbed of his gold watch, and a colonial fob. The unfortunate victim of this attack was discovered by a policeman on his countess, and he was now in the hospital in Spring Gardens, and we are happy to say he has now very nearly recovered the effects of the attack. Our Canton correspondent writes:—A case of extraordinary ferocity is reported by an eye-witness to have taken place in Shi-shan, which is distant from here about half-day's journey. It is stated that a little girl about eight years old, the only daughter of her parents, was cruelly and brutally slain at day-break on a domestic quarrel to the residence of one of her relatives. On her way she was attacked by a good-sized Chin dog, which threw her down and bit her frightfully—it was not before one of the eyes of the poor girl and bits of flesh were torn away that the residence of her neighborhood took notice of the occurrence. It is perhaps superfluous to add that the unfortunate girl breathed her last a few hours after she was taken home, which forcibly reminds one of the saying that "in the midst of life we are in death." The mother of the girl seems to have evinced reasons for forbearance, and has stated that all the demand she stated to have preferred against the owner of the dog was for not more than ten dollars, in order to enable her to disburse the Positions of places on the Chinese and Japanese Coasts.

- The author in his Preface says:—"The tables in Chap. VII., for estimating prices, measurement of goods, exchanges, &c. have been selected from those constantly in use among the foreign merchants in China.
Those for calculating the prices of tea in dollars or pence have been copied from the more extended tables, by the kind permission of the author, P. Loureiro, Esq. The last section of the same chapter, on "Movements in Bullion," has been prepared and furnished for the Guide by Patrick R.
Barber, Esq., of the Commercial Bank of India at Hongkong, who has had much experience in the exchanges and movements of the precious metals in Eastern Asia.
The Appendix of Sailing Directions has been reprinted from the "China Pilot." With short interruptions, the coasts from Singapore to Hakodadi are all described in it; and for the Chinese coasts, the Directions have been improved by the insertion of the Chinese characters for the names of all places that could be ascertained."

Orders may be sent through any of the China Mail Agents, or direct to
